We guard carefully againt imposition, as I would greatly regret having the character of the Board involved in any transaction that could be justly chargeable with fraud or dishonesty. We would rather seor dishonesty. We would rather se-cure one good satisfied citizen, than five hundred who would be dissatisfied, for it is a sad fact and one which is to be deplored, that every man who feels that he has been deceived and cheated in the purchase of land in our State, is o-day an active, effective walking advertisement against us. I am greatly en-

Numerous letters are daily received from all sections of the North and Northwest, and it would astonish our people to know how little is known of this old State, as developed by these letters. I shall spare no trouble to do all in my power to let the advantages of the State be known, for I think that is all that is necessary to attract as many as we desire. The Confederate soldiers who fought with Early tell many amusing anecdotes of him. They used playfully to call him "Old Juba" and "Old Jubales." In 1864, when his military star began to wane, and Sheridan defeated him again and again in the Valley, General Lee sent him as reinforcement a battery of artillery via Lynchburg. Some wag marked upon one of the pieces, "General Sheridaa, care of Jubal Early, Shepandoah Valley."

If Russia succeeds in her plan of direct and separate negotiation with Turbe of great value to her. The decision of questions involving European inter-ests has never before been intrusted to a single nation, unless that nation had acquired the privilege by force of arms and could defend it against all opposition. Russia persists in her claim, and as all the other European powers but England seem disposed to yield, her chances for success are good. Mean-while, the way of the English statesman is hard.

Arrival of the Remains .- The Body Lying in State in the

At the hour of 10 yesterday morning it became officially known in the city that the remains of the late Chief Justice Pearson would be brought to this committee to meet the remains at the Stocking our Streams.

Some days ago an article appeared in our columns in regard to the State Fish Hatchery at Henry's, and stated that the principal streams had been stocked with the young of that finest of food-fishes, the California Salmon. From the Concord Sun we learn that the fish were distributed as follows:

Swanannoa River

3 and make all necessary arrangements in regard to the funeral ceremonies &c. His Honor appointed the following gentleman: R H. Battle Jr., Chairman, Messrs. E. G. Reade, W. P. Bynum, E. G. Haywood, C. M. Busbee, R. C. Badger, Basil C. Manly, W. E. Anderson, J. W. Hinsdale, Walter Clark, Octavius Coke, R. S. Tucker, W. H. Bag.ey, Julius Lewis, E. R. Stamps, G. M. Smedes, A. Creech, T. H. Briggs and R. Greech, and make all necessary arrangements 25,000; Smedes, A. Creech, T. H. Briggs and R. 20,000; G. Lewis. The committee was instructed to assemble at the office of Battle 12,000; and Mordecai at 3½ o'clock. Adjutant General Johnstone Jones was designated by the committee as Marshal.

Mayor Manly requested the Board of Aldermen to assemble at 4 P. M. Aldermen to assemble at 4 P. M.

At the request of the committee, Capt. Cameron of the Raleigh Light Infantry, detailed a special guard of eight picked men under command of Sergeant Edmund F. Smith, to act as a guard of honor at the capitol. The flags on the capitol, Metropolitan Hall and Tucker's store were displayed at half mast during the day, while the fronts of the court the day, while the fronts of the court house and one a two buildings were ouse and one o two buildings were draped in mourning.

Messrs. H. A. Gilliam, R. E. Gray and LeRoy G. Bagley, designated as a committee to go up the rail road and meet the remains, met the train with these on board, at Mebanesville, and then returned to this city.

The Governor, Lieutenant-Governor and the heads of the various State Departments with the designated committees &c., proceeded to the N. C. Depot and awaited the arrival of the train bearing the remains, and as soon as it reached the station the coffin was taken from the car and placed in the hearse by the following members of the Bar who acted as pall-bearers: Hon. A. S. Merri-mon, Messrs. J. B. Batchelor, R. C. Badger, Walter Clarke, Octavius Coke, C. M. Busbee, Thos. C. Fuller, and R. . Lewis. The following accompanied the remains from Statesville and points on the road: H. C. Cowles, Esq., W. J. Coite and wife, W. W. Mott, Alex. H. Smith, and Hon. R. F. Armfield, of Statesville, John Gray Bynum and wife, of Winston, Mrs. Gov. Vance and Mr. D. M. Vance. Mrs. R. M. Pearson, the wife, and Mrs. E. Hayne Davis, of Statesville, the daughter of the deceased

Chief Justice were also with the remains. As soon as they were placed in carriages the procession formed, and took its way up Carbarrus and Fayetteville Sts., to the Capitol. The casket was lifted out of the hearse and carried in the western door of the building, the dely hastening to completion. It was given out to the contractors on the 10th on duty, saluting by presenting arms.
It was then placed in the rotunda upon the Phoenixville Bridge Works, near Philadelphia, the finest bridge builders in the country and the same firm that built the bridge work of the casket was then taken of and the feet of the casket was then taken built the bridge over the Susquehanna at Havre D'Grace.
